Log

Production Note:

Our intent is to give an accurate and realistic, while at the same time artistic, picture of Flintridge life circa 1963-64. Subsequently, while standard techniques will be maintained where necessary, new and sometimes unorthodox techniques will, also of necessity, be used to capture in more detail the feelings of the era. All production procedure is to be subordinated to this concept.

D e d i c a t i o n

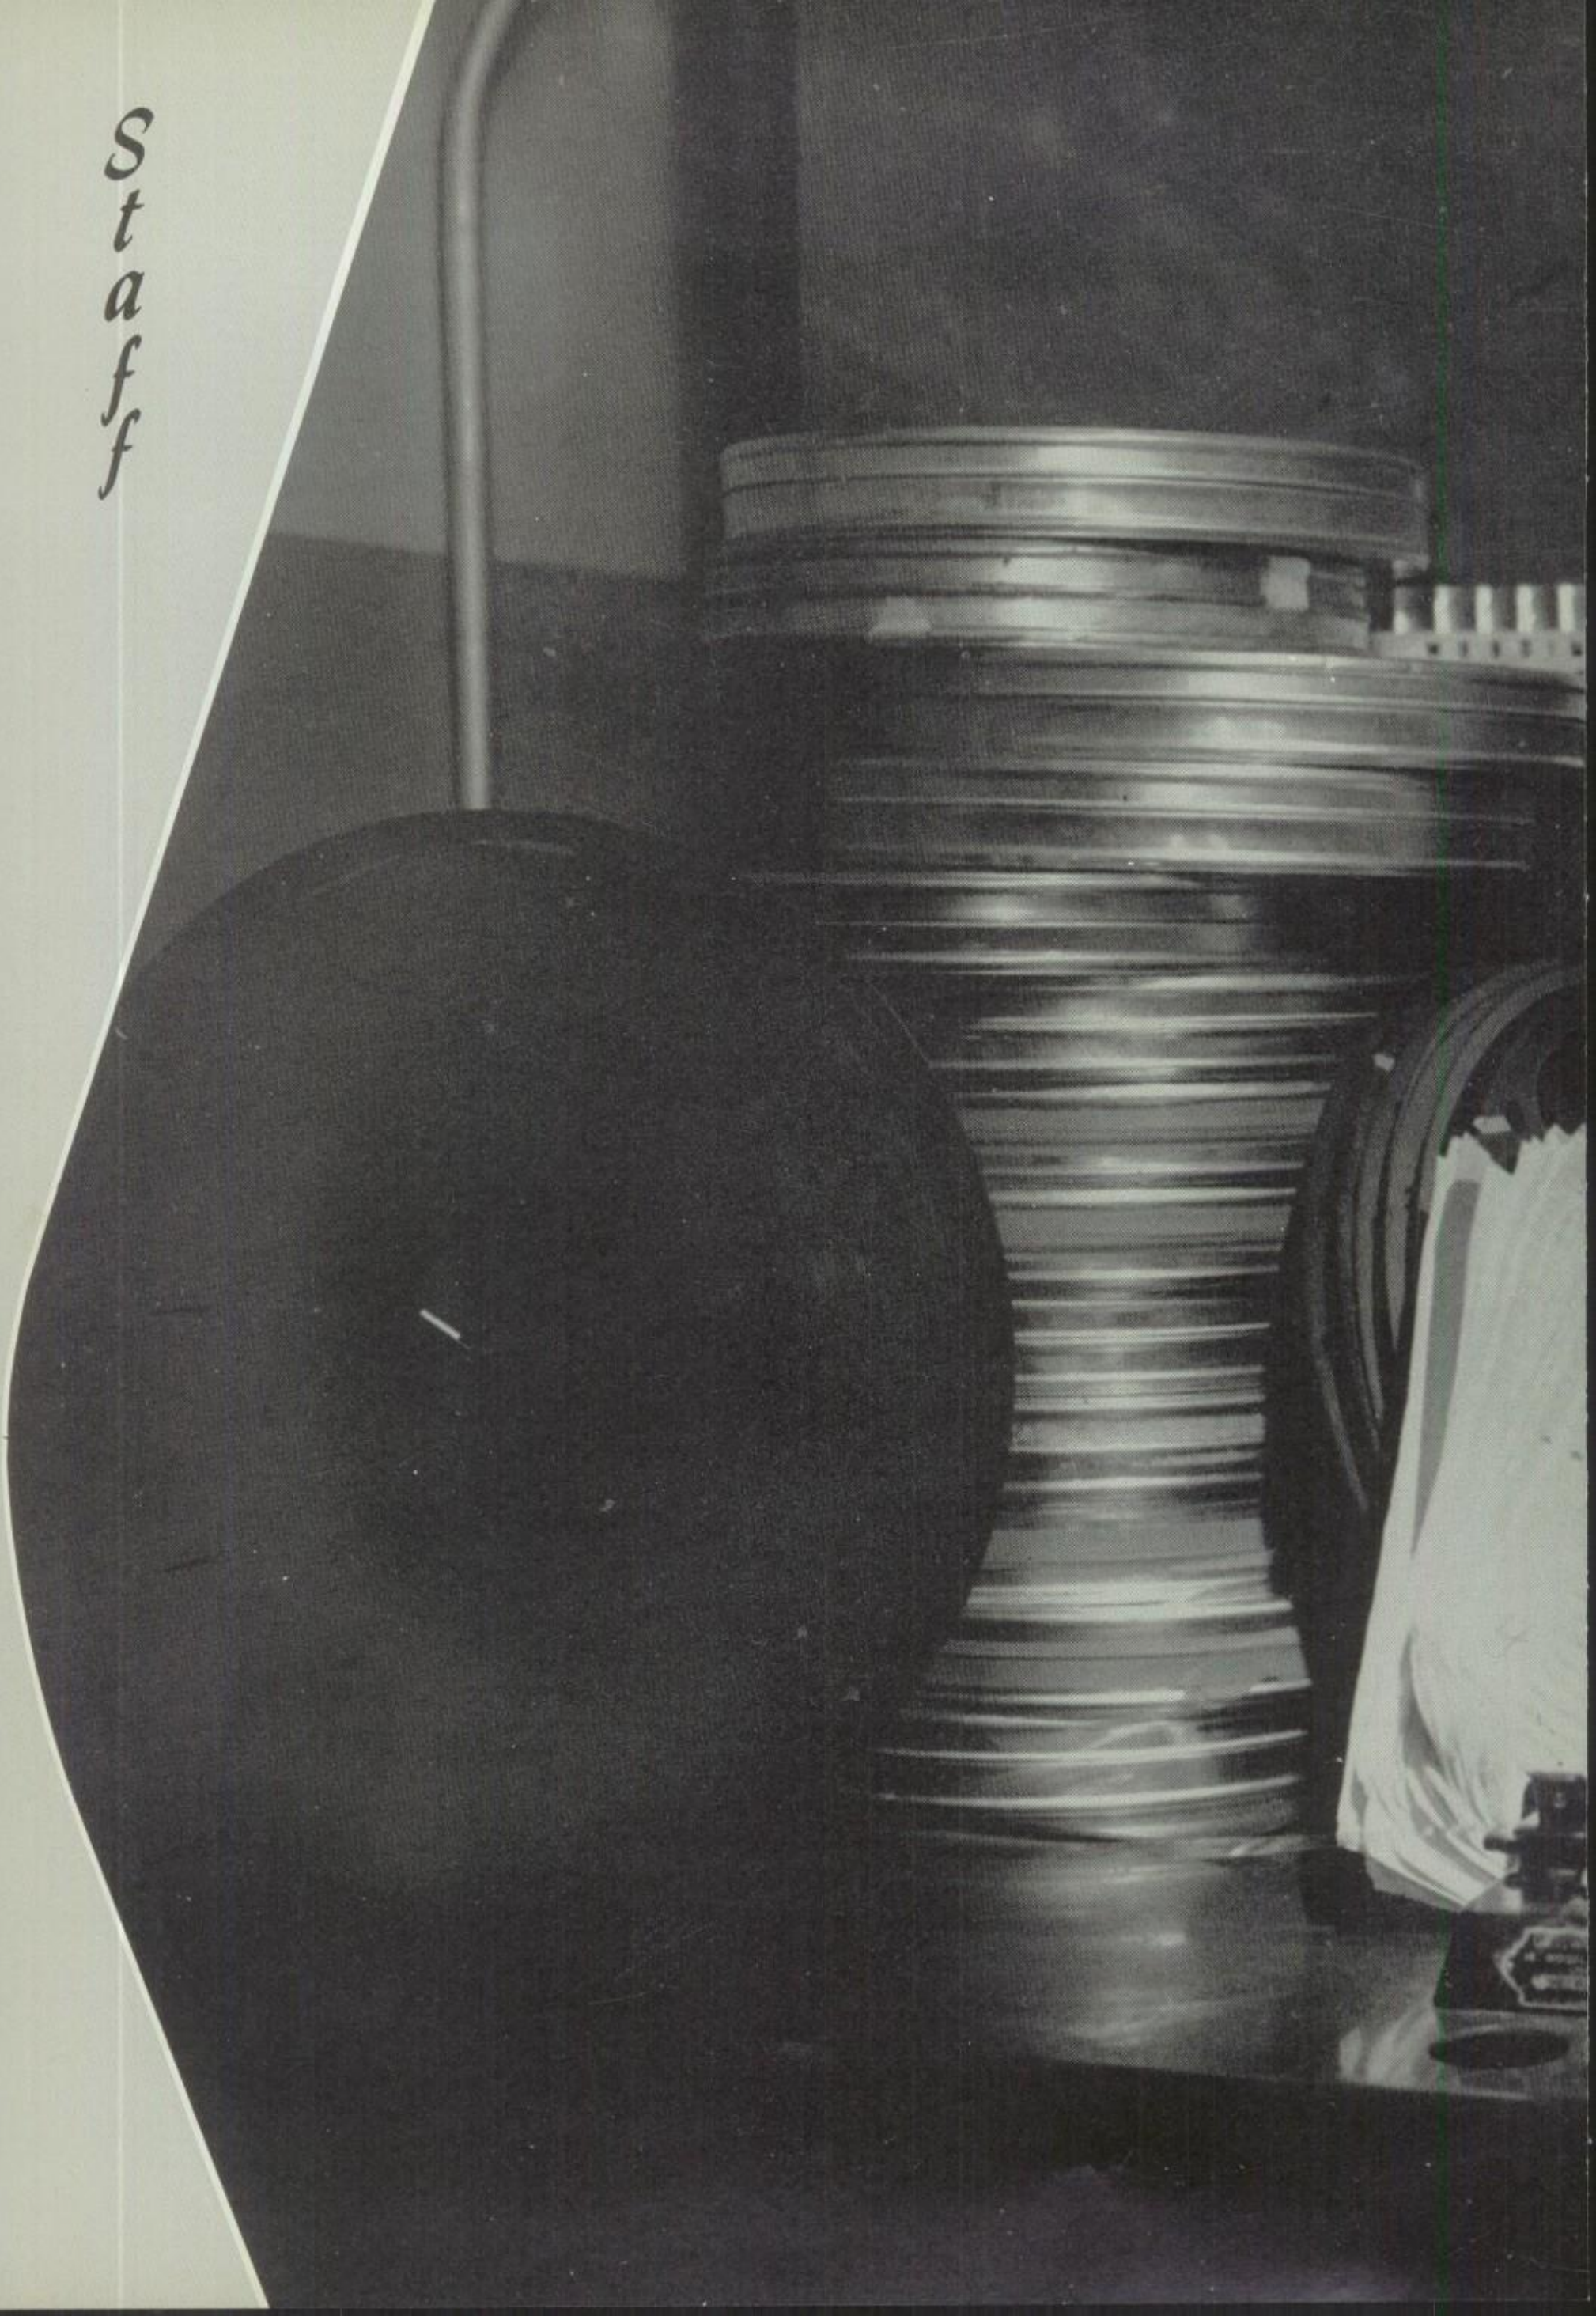

Log 64 is dedicated to Mr. Arnold Krabbe, whose abilities and hardworking respect for the school have been shown consistently in his many activities around the campus. Last year Mr. Krabbe was given his first honorary membership in the Flintridge Lettermen's Club as a token of the appreciation which the students felt for him. We of Log staff feel that this dedication might in some way be able to again show the attitude of respect with which the students meet the continuing efforts of Mr. Krabbe.

Once again Prep was blessed with an all-Senior Student Council. Through mature thinking and proper planning the Council has been able to maintain a close relationship with the administration. This year a revision of the school Constitution was undertaken to bring it up to date with the present school policy. At the time of this writing plans for a student government day are under consideration. Each member of the Council has made significant contributions to the overall success of the school year.

Put your glasses back on Clark.

Hurry, Eric, it's already two periods late.

Seniors

The principals in this year's cast have followed in the great tradition of those before them: they have soundly trounced the juniors and all other opponents in academic and athletic class competition; they have rubbed many a junior nose in the mud in that noble, but dirty, institution which they had established as juniors; and they have insured and expanded Senior traditions and privileges.

As a class, a working unit, they have done these things; however, this unit is made up of distinct and individual characters. With this in mind, the Log has written them up considering their individual characteristics, and eccentricities, which make them and their years at Prep memorable.

BERNARD ROBERTSON
BECKERLEGGE

One's eyes are what one is, one's mouth what one becomes.

—John Galsworthy

Bob is the champion of what he calls "reverse snob appeal." With a haughty air he pilots his VW in the lot, looking askance at the Grand Prixes and other disdainful vehicles. He is also fond of playing the reverse snob bit with T.V. too: if you start discussing a T.V. program, he looks at you with sad, cocker spaniel eyes and says, "But . . . but . . . but we don't have a T.V.," and retires for a good laugh.

ROBERT BRUCE CAMPBELL

Ho! Ho! Ho!

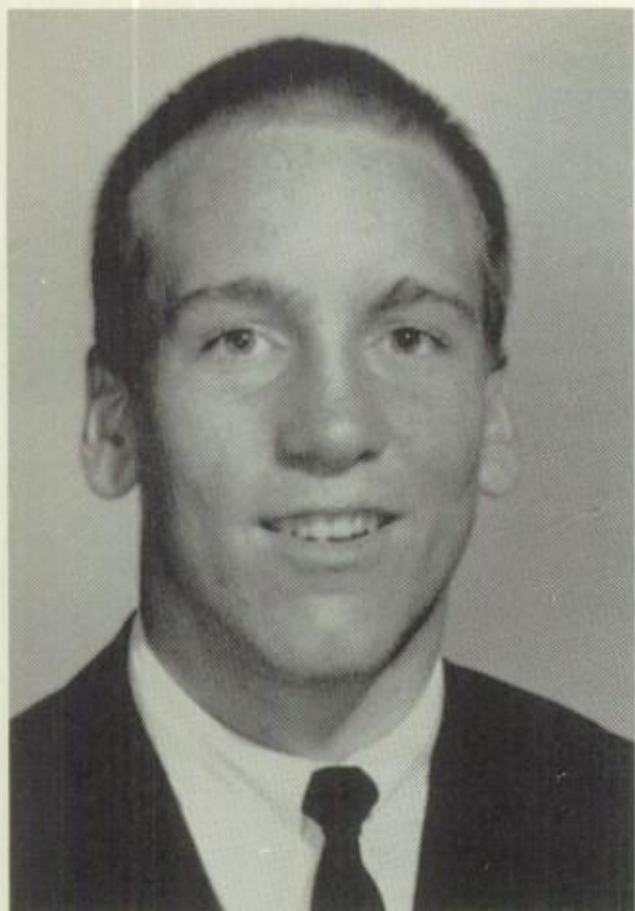

—S. Claus

Bob, looking like the "jolly green giant" of vegetable fame, comes cruising into the lot every morning in his bean wagon. As we watch him calmly surveying those below him, we are glad that he doesn't have acute acrophobia. Unfortunately, though, he always has headaches from hitting those beams in the gym.

Credits

Sports: Swimming. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Three.

SYDNEY BERNARD COOK

*We see all things through ourselves.
We are a medium always interposed between things and ourselves.*

—Joseph Joubert

The Stirling Moss of the mickey mouse set can oft' be seen taking off in his hot Ghia in generous little four wheel drifts for some cold, lofty, Byronic crag, to pose, or to try to ferret out some "fellow" gods. As a result of these excursions he usually comes back laden not with nectar and ambrosia, but rather encrusted with a snow-white substance from some not-so-celestial, winged friends.

Student Government: Class vice-president, C.S.F. Academic Honors: Cum Laude; C.S.F.; Quill and Scroll; Summa Cum Laude, national A.S.P.L. Latin exam; second and first '62 and '63 Time contest; Brown Alumni Award in English Literature. Sports: varsity basketball (manager). Special Activities: Log, Highlander. Years at Prep: Six.

ROSCOE CARL COX III

For every cause, no matter how foolish, there is a champion to defend it.

—Oliver Goldsmith

R.C. can be spotted by his red Corvair, which he says is a Cobra, but doesn't know it, with the Playboy bunnies on the side. This little beast gets good mileage and is a thrifty hunk of metal; it is very cheap to operate, which isn't the only scotch in R.C.

Credits

Sports: varsity basketball (manager); varsity baseball (manager); "B" football. Special activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Five.

GORTON MAURICE DeMOND

A frere ther was, a wantowne and a mery.

—Chaucer, C

Gorton is our jolly, carefree keeper of the snack bar. He's a happy-go-lucky friar, this one, whether filching the goodies, cheerfully slamming the store window down on those hands which would follow in his footsteps, or, just for laughs, shaking up the cokes, then opening them in the customer's face.

Credits

Special Activities: Senior snack bar staff; 1962-63 Lettermen's Club Play. Years at Prep: Three.

DWIGHT JAMES DUNN

Off the dock dived brother Jim . . . and then found out . . . he could not swim.

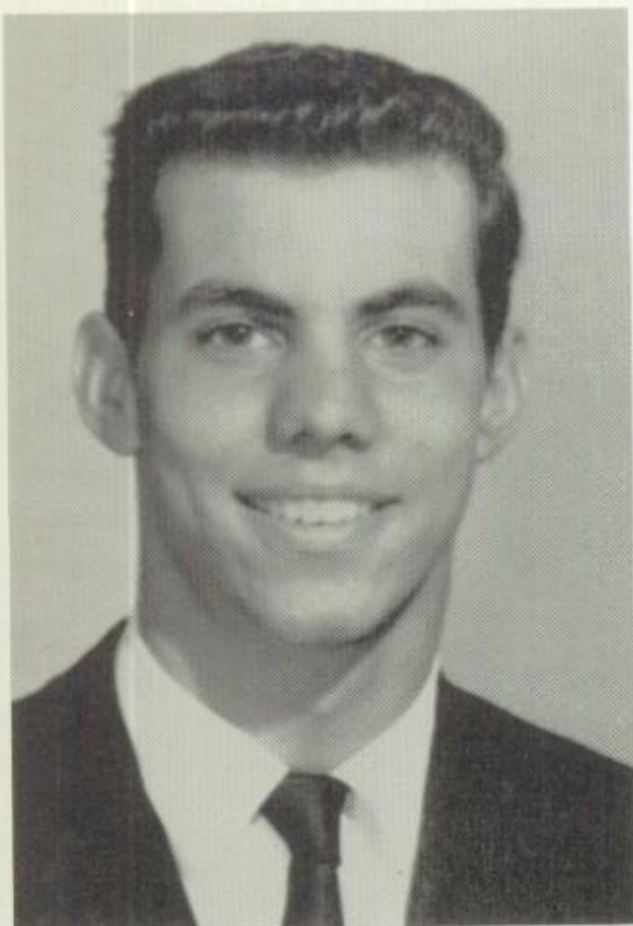

Dwight's chauvinism toward his car has earned him the name "Prince Valiant." "Hecho," a name gained in Spanish, is also one of Flintridge's chief swimmers, a skill he learned crossing the border so many times. Thus, when he climbs out of the pool, he is often greeted with calls of "Hey, Wetback!"

Credits

Academic honors: Cum Laude; membership, Quill and Scroll fourth place, '62-63 Time current event contest. Sports: Varsity swimming. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Seven

CHARLES EDER

*Music, when soft voices die
Vibrates in the memory.*

—Shelley

When Charlie is not fiddling around somewhere, he pursues the purposeful pastime of bouncing balls off his head, or else he is in class, taking notes, and taking notes, and taking notes, and . . . It's not that we think Charlie takes more notes than the average student but when someone asks him what happened three paces due east of the northeast corner of the steps to St.

Marks Cathedral, Venice, at 3:00 A.M. on July 12, 1902, and Charlie says, "I'll check my notes," we do begin to wonder: he's not even taking that course!

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity football. Special Activities: Highlander staff. Years at Prep: Six.

RICHARD STEPHEN FRITZEN

*Sorrow is the mere rust of the soul.
Activity will cleanse and brighten it.*

—Samuel Johnson

Fritz is liked by everyone because he never gets rattled—except when U.S.C. is mentioned. However, his calculus class does gnash its teeth at him, mainly because he goes to the Y.M.C.A. and shoots baskets or watches wrestling on T.V. and then calmly walks in and gets an "A" on his test, while everyone else is busy downing coffee by the barrel and chucking "No-Doze" in their mouths like jelly beans.

Credits

Academic honors: Cum Laude. Sports: All League, Varsity basketball, Varsity swimming. Years at Prep: Six.

ALAN CHARLES GOULD

A thing of beauty is a joy forever: Its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness.

—Keats

Another member of Flintridge's sports car enthusiasts is Alan Gould with his race-prepared 1949 Hudson GTO. This bomb is obviously the hottest on the lot, and with sleek, aerodynamic design and quick cornering ability, we hope to see Alan in there as the 1965 World Driving Champion.

Credits

Sports: Varsity basketball, Varsity baseball. Years at Prep: Six.

JACK WHITNEY GEURNSEY

*Away! Away! for I will fly to thee
Not charioted by Bacchus and his pards.*

—Keats

With a mighty rev as loud as any 427 Chevy — well, at least, a big Timex — Jack comes wheeling in the lot on his hand-tooled, hand-totaled Vespa. After he knocks over several pedestrians and a Sprite, one might assume he's had a few too many — Cokes, of course — however, having noticed what seems to be a knitted blue martini glass inverted over his head, one can easily see he has merely forgotten to remove the cover before riding to school.

Credits

Sports: Varsity football, basketball, and baseball. Years at Prep: Six.

MICHAEL WILLIAM GUNN

In her first passion Woman loves her lover, In all others all she loves is love.

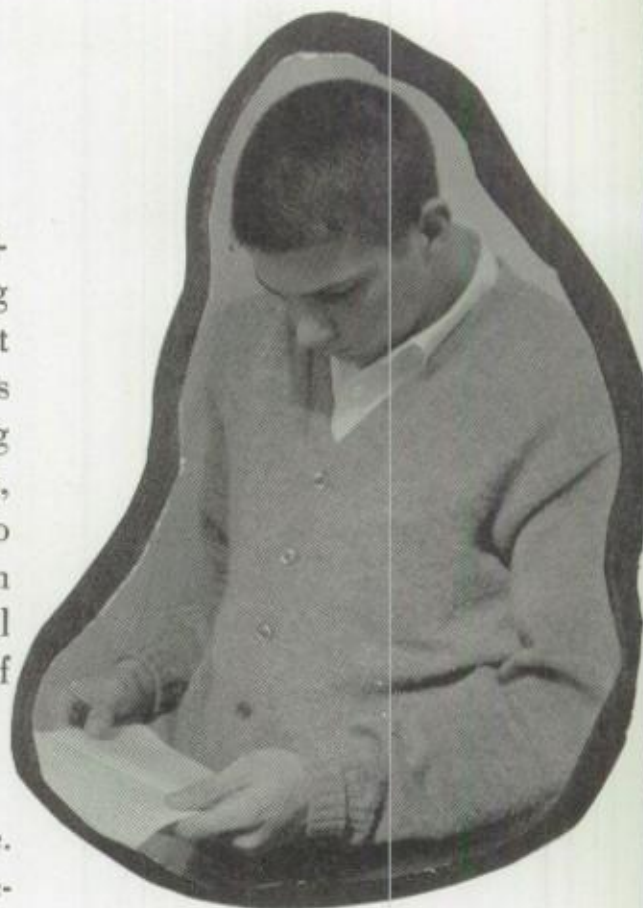

—Byron

If you were to run into Mike standing still it would be akin to slamming into a pile of cast iron anvils; but when you get in his way while he is moving, you might as well be standing in the Grand Prix course of Le Mans, except there you'd have about two to one better chance. And so on warm Saturday afternoons during football season, Mike can be seen galloping down the field, planting opponents in the turf as though he were Johnny Appleseed.

Credits

Student Government: Vice President, Senior Class. Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity football, All League; Varsity basketball, All League; Varsity baseball, All League. Years at Prep: Three.

JEFFERY MORGAN HALVERSON

I do not choose to run.

—C. Coolidge

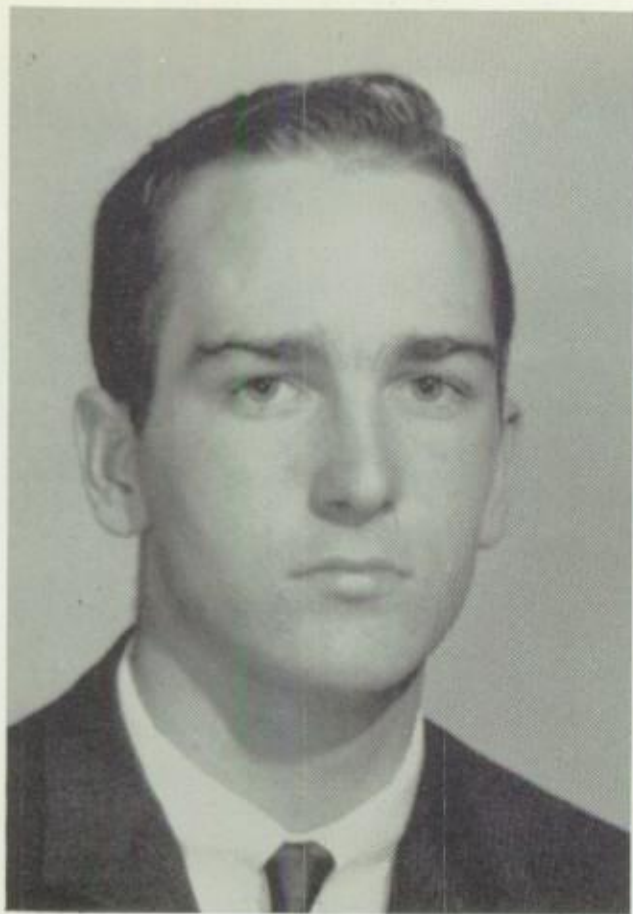

We can't figure out what Jeff has against Pennala, but we know it must be something: every afternoon he is out on the field throwing things at the Finn, and the latter is at a great disadvantage, for while he does squat down to make a smaller target, Jeff gets to throw down-hill at him. That's not quite cricket, Jeff! You think you'll get an athletic letter doing something like that?

Credits

Student Government: Commissioner of Finance; Vice President, Lettermen's Club. Academic Honors: Cum Laude, C.S.F. Sports: Varsity football; Varsity baseball. Years at Prep: Three.

EUGENE PAUL HARMAN

But words are things, and a small drop of ink, falling like dew, upon a thought, produces that which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.

—Byron

Paul is the only guy willing to translate Navas, just for the sake of refutation. He and his hot Stude meet the challenge every morning with clouds of smoke and a hearty "Avantis rule!" When not trying to ram Jim's Healy down Jim's mouth, he is running around decapitating subordinates on the Log with the look of Flagg's Uncle Sam Wants You! poster.

Credits

Student Government: Commissioner of Publications. Special Activities: Editor, Highlander staff; editor, Log staff. Years at Prep: Four.

LEWIS JAMES HASTINGS

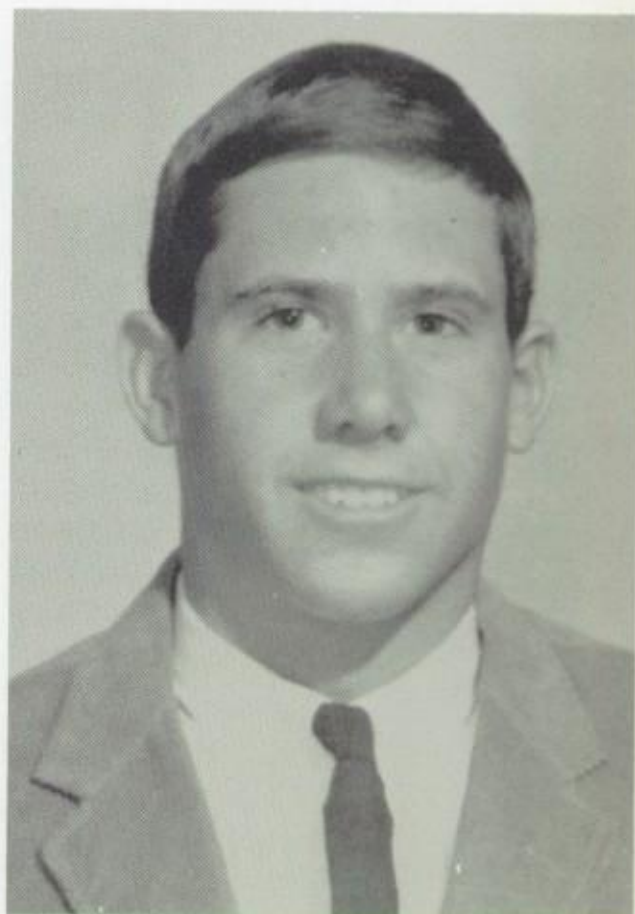

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.

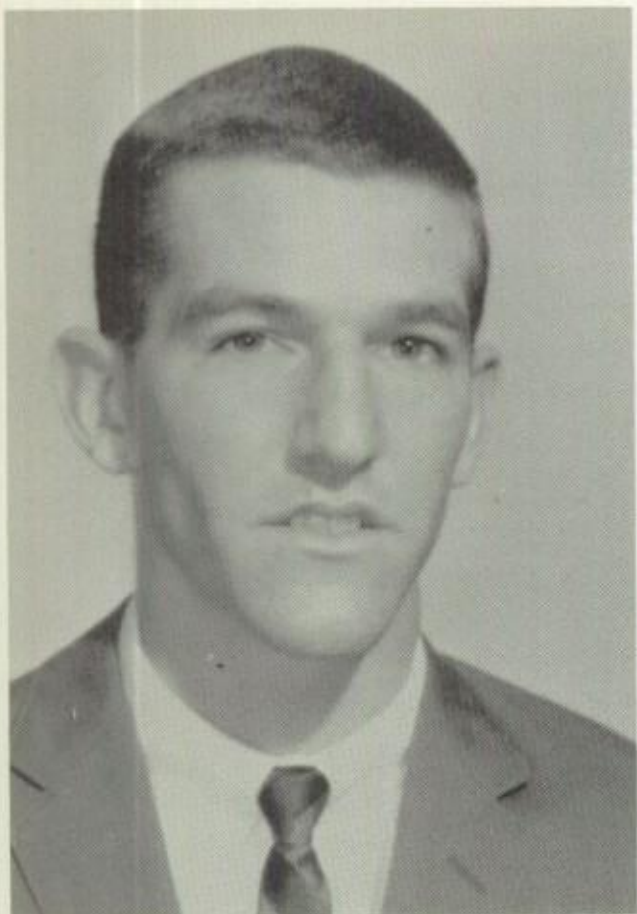

—Henry David Thoreau

We wonder just who is on drums when Lew is on the basketball or the volleyball court. As if he were a kangaroo rabid with loco weed, Lew springs down the court and drops the ball into the basket as though depositing a letter; as for his spikes in volleyball, we wouldn't wish those on Moscow. Yet what perplexes us is why he drives that Model A when he could easily outrun it with a springy pair of tennis shoes.

Credits

Student Government: Commissioner of Finance; Vice president, sophomore and junior classes. Sports: Varsity football; Varsity basketball; Varsity tennis. Years at Prep: Four.

LEWIS STARK LEVIN

If he be not fellow with the best king, thou shalt find him with the best of good fellows.

—Shakespeare

With shouts of "non-contact, what's that?" Lew can be seen charging down the basketball court with the fury of a wounded aardvark towards the unsuspecting throng under the basket. Smash! Result: six broken jaws, and one sprained ankle — and one free throw. In his '56 Ford he was also the black knight of the freeway, until his armor was dented.

Credits

Student Government: Treasurer, sophomore class. Sports: Varsity football; varsity baseball; "B" basketball. Years at Prep: Six.

DALE HOWARD LEWIS

If you don't live for something bigger than yourself, you're not really living at all.

Out of the clear blue of the eastern sky comes a Grand Prix . . . no, red Corvair . . . no, Chevy wagon . . . well, anyway, it's Pot, playboy of the western world. With a very refined, "Oh, pot!" he might have discovered that he forgot his vocabulary words — in Europe! Oh, well, better take a cab — and off he goes. As if that weren't enough, he makes it back to school before assembly. After all, though, the list was only in England.

Credits

Student Government: president, Lettermen's club. Sports: "B" basketball; "B" football; varsity football; varsity basketball. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Four.

JOHN LINDSEY

*O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursels as ithers see us!*

—Robert Burns

John is one of Prep's most devoted students, for anyone who would come on crutches all the way from Inglewood every day must be. He was on crutches a good part of the year because, as rumor has it, a gang from Chadwick caught up with him for his "raid" last year. If he hadn't been outnumbered one to one, he wouldn't have lost.

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity tennis. Special Activities: Log staff. Years at Prep: Three.

JEFFREY A. LUNDAHL

And I have loved thee, Ocean! and my joy of you youthful sports was on thy breast to be born like the bubbles onward!

—Byron

Startling to behold was Jeff's transformation this year from beachnik to student. Now only a shadow of his former "surf," he has foresaken his hot woody — it stood out in the sun a lot — for a more scholarly "Falcon." His locks are yet unshorn, but already they grow dim in luster.

Credits

Sports: Varsity football; "B" football; "B" basketball. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Five.

JOHN ERICKSON McENTYRE

But I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep.

—Robert Frost

Look at Mac. Mac is running. Mac can run. See Mac run. Run, Mac, run. Mac is incumbent, and has been since the eighth grade: he was president of his class then, and in his freshman and sophomore years, Commissioner of Athletics as a junior, and Commissioner General this year. And he did it all on one set of campaign posters.

Credits

Student Government: Commissioner of Athletics; Commissioner General; president, freshman and sophomore classes; president, C.S.F. Academic Honors: C.S.F. Cum Laude; Sportsmanship; American Literature; Latin; The Harvard Book, English Literature; High School Honor Student.

STEPHEN CRANE MANILDI

What men call gallantry, and the gods adultery, is much more common where the climate's sultry.

—Byron

Crane is Prep's mad athlete and treasurer of the Senior class. When he's not kicking drop-kicks from the lunch tables to Alexander's, he's misusing class funds with an equally high degree of proficiency. Off campus we don't know much of Steve: most of his activities are undercover; but we know he is busy and always has something on tap.

Credits

Student Government: Treasurer, Senior Class. Sports: "B" football; "B" basketball; varsity baseball; varsity football; varsity basketball; golf. Years at Prep: Eight.

ROBERT BRUCE NATHASON

Please all and you will please none.

Bob is our social commentator, and in some ways dictator, of the Senior class: he keeps us in line by standing off to the side, aloof, with his henchman, chopping to the roots with a word or two anyone who doesn't bend to the norm. At other times, though, he brings fellow inmates outside word of the "Civic" or the boys at the Pasadena "Y" in such graphic detail it might make Byron blush.

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude in A.S.P.L. National Latin examination; 1000 word club. Sports: Varsity swimming. Years at Prep: Six.

JAMES WILL NAVAS

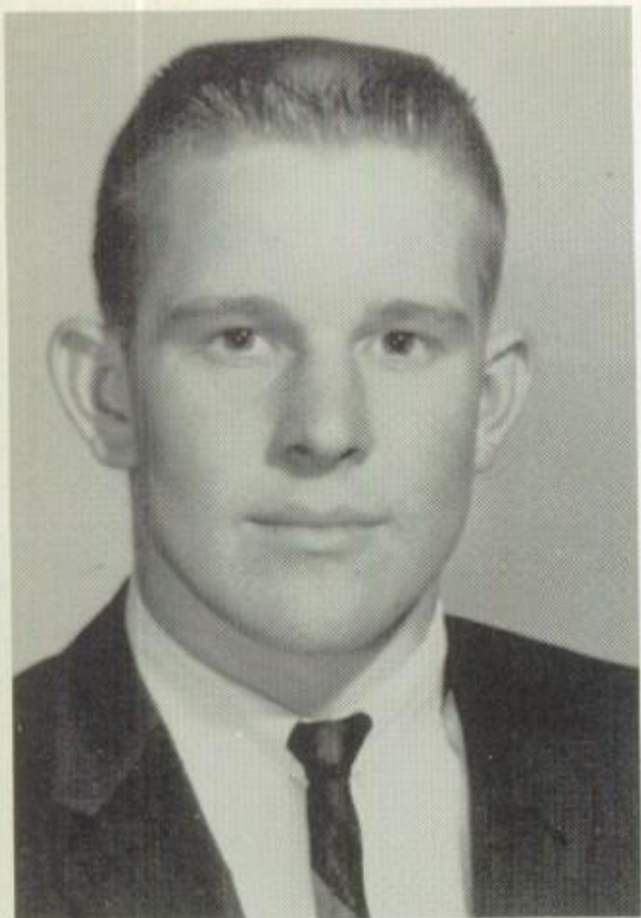

Birth is life is death.

Unlike the rest of us, who were meant to play at 33 1/3 R.P.M., Indian Jim, who is nonetheless longplaying, coats the air with noises at 78 R.P.M. And if you have your Cassell's Navas-English, English-Navas dictionary, you'll find that he is telling tales of Cobras and Healys and large cubic inch beasts and things that go bump on the freeway.

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: "B" football; "B" basketball. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Six.

ERIC PENNALA

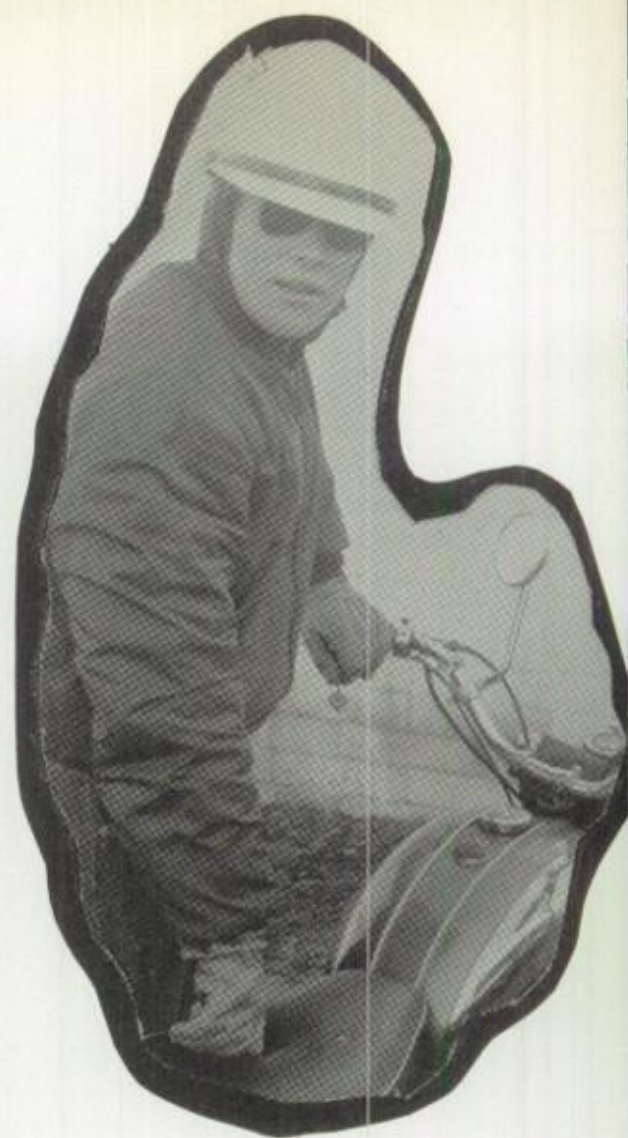

An aim in life is the only fortune worth finding.

—Robert Louis Stevenson

An exchange student from Sunland (they give us Eric and we give them news of the outside world), the Finn is often seen, as commissioner of Academics, granting the right of speedy trial—in the manner of Citizen Robespierre. Punishment is simple: the offender must throw himself into spokes of Eric's BSA as he cruises down the freeway; if he doesn't live, there's no problem. If he lives, though, he is burned as a witch.

Credits

Student Government: Commissioner of Academics; Secretary, C.S.F. Academic Honors: C.S.F., Cum Laude, Rensselaer Science and Mathematics medal. Sports: Varsity football; varsity baseball. Years at Prep: Six.

JOHN WALTER PLUMB

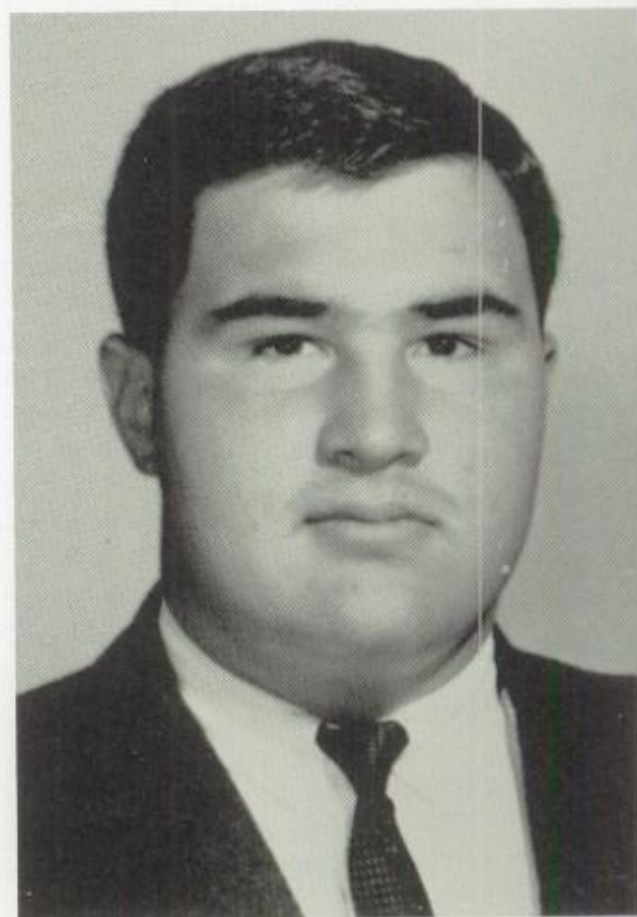

When the candles are out, all women are fair.

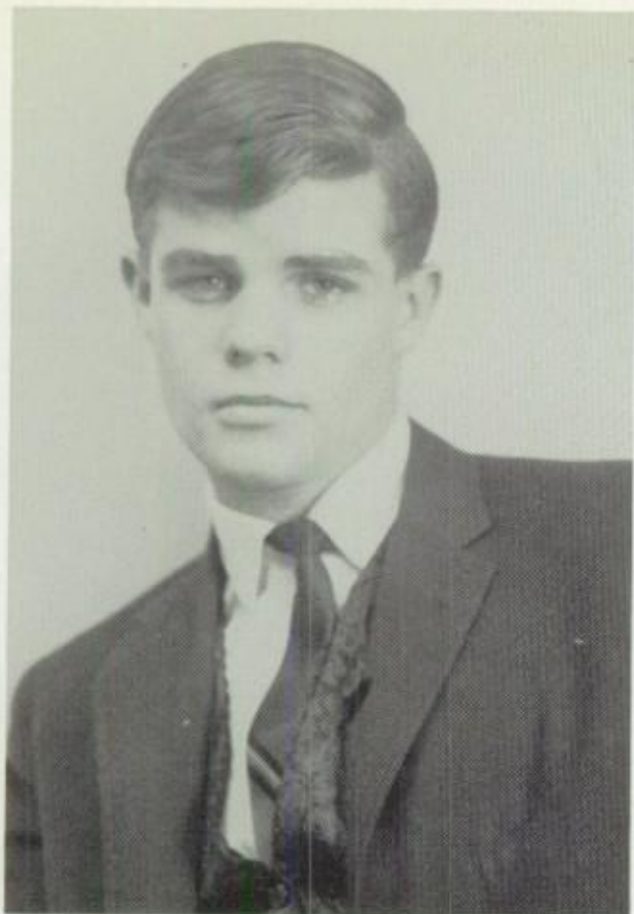

—Plutarch

Piglet is chiefly noted for one thing in particular, his big "little black book." Thus John looms large as only he can in the social phase of Prep. He's the social conscience and date arranger for the Senior class. We know he's well-liked because all the time, especially around the times of the dances, fellow students greet him with, "Say, John, old pal, old buddy, friend, comrade . . ." et al.

Credits

Student Government: Secretary-Treasurer, junior class; President, Senior class. Sports: Varsity football, Varsity basketball (Mgr.) Years at Prep: Seven.

STEPHEN LIVINGSTON SATTERLEE

*I love the man who knows it all,
From east to west, from north to south,
Who knows all things, both great and small,
And tells it with his tiresome mouth.*

—Robert Burdette

"Slats" is the Freud and Dr. Kinsey of the Senior Class, first telling you what motivates you, then giving the statistics on it. He's also a young Democrat, and at Prep, his fast mouth and sharp tongue are a means of survival, since he is in a minority of about four.

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity football, Varsity Basketball (Mgr.)
Years at Prep: Five.

BARRY CAMP SLOCUM

To handle yourself, use your heart; to handle others, use your heart.

Melvin is another sports car fan, but his hot Sprite has given him a little trouble: once he lost the key — and couldn't wind it up; another time he was nearly run over by Guernsey's Vespa. But Barry is a real sport; anyone who will get up in front of that vicious mob in assembly every morning must have a real love of danger and adventure.

Credits

Student Government: President, junior class; Commissioner of Athletics. Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity football, Varsity basketball, Varsity baseball, Tennis. Years at Prep: Five.

ALEXANDER FOUST STEPHENS

Motley's the only wear.

—Shakespeare

In the same way the grand royal courts in former times had their jesters, the Senior Class has Alex. Dressed in motley every day — with emphasis on green — he further resembles the jesters of old in that they had sanction to say anything about anyone they wished: Alex doesn't have sanction, but cuts everyone down to size anyway.

Credits

Sports: "B" football. Football manager. Baseball manager. Years at Prep: Four.

WILLIAM FRANCIS SUMMERS

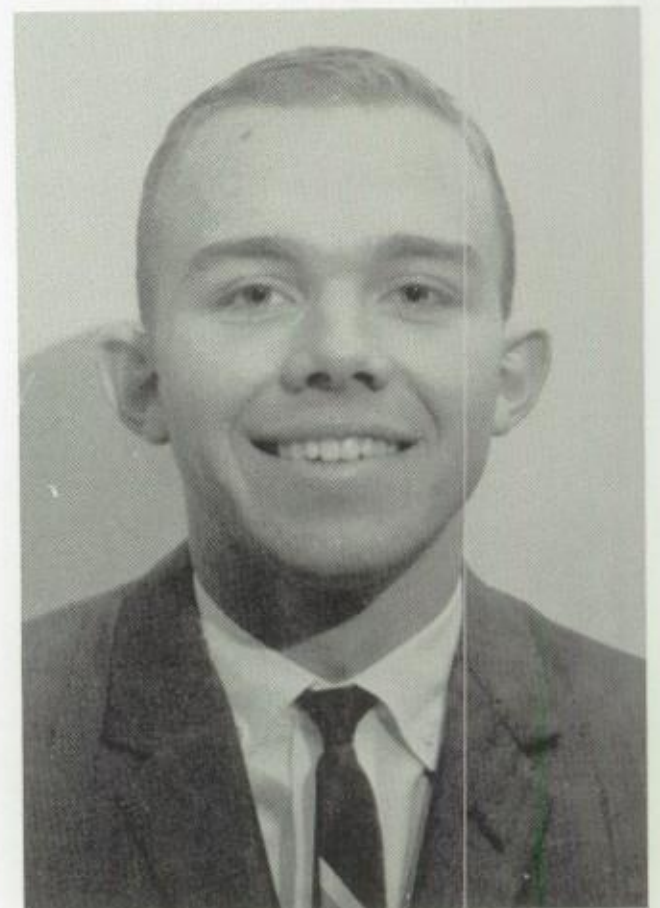

I wish I was in de land ob cotton, Old times dar are not forgotten. Look away, look away, look away, Dixie Land.

—Dixie

Bill is as a sheep returning to the fold — yet, not a black sheep — and we rejoice. For he departed from Flint-ridge, after his sophomore year for John Muir High and, following that, points south. After this year he'll probably secede again.

Credits

Sports: "B" football. Years at Prep: Six.

EDMUND SUTRO

*... Fantastic if too new or old:
Be not the first by whom the new are tried,
Nor yet the last to lay the old aside.*

—Alexander Pope

Whether scattering "Good and Plenty" to the wind like confetti to illustrate a point, or dancing the minuet to a surf band, while forty other couples are doing the "pile-driver stomp," Ned is always found in the center ring: he is the P. T. Barnum of the Senior Class.

Credits

Special Activities: Head of the Senior class snack bar; 1962-63 Lettermen's Club play. Years at Prep: Three.

JOHN JOSEPH SWEENEY

*Words are like leaves; and where they most abound,
Much fruit of sense beneath is rarely found.*

—Alexander Pope

John blew into Prep, as a junior, from Florida; he must have come from the everglades because the alligators were still clinging to his feet. Can the Florida Chamber of Commerce explain why John would change the land of sunny beaches and precarious living with hurricanes for the land of smog and equally precarious living at Prep? They would like not to: that's one for us.

Credits

Special Activities: Senior Class snack bar staff. Years at Prep: Two.

PETER CHARLES VAMVAS

Alas for me! The more I seek my solitude the less of it I find. Wherever I look for it my shadow looks with me.

—Nat Hentoff

Shouting the praises of Spyros Skouras and Homer, the Greek is Prep's answer to Greenwich Village. An adamant jazz "purist" and abstractionist, Pete can be found either buzzing around L.A. in pursuit of "pure jazz" or suffering.

Credits

Sports: "B football. Special Activities: Log staff (cover design). Years at Prep: Seven.

WELLS WHEELER

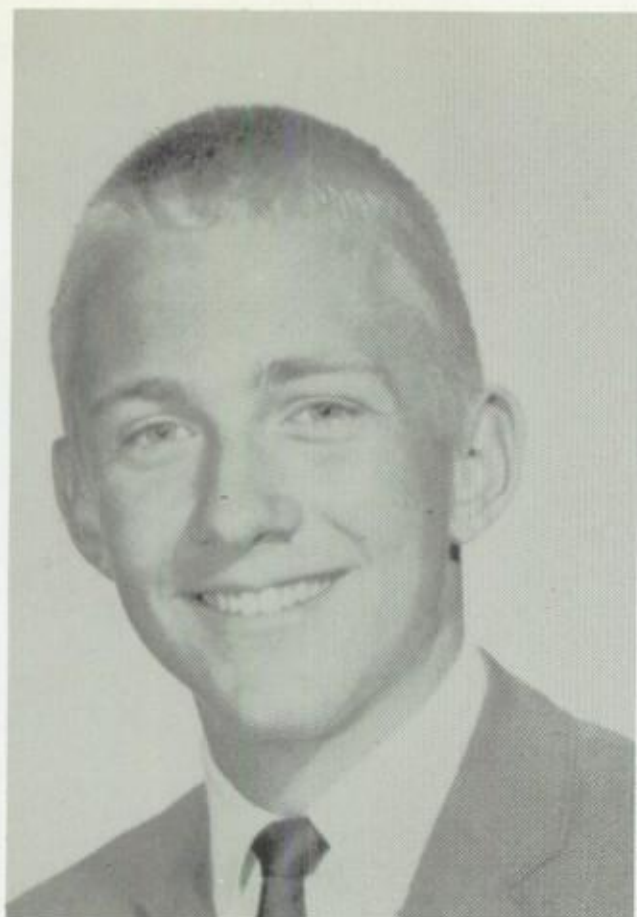

God help me, for men will not.

Wells is probably the only golfer who ever aimed for the sand traps because they remind him of the beach and surfin'; yet, he has advantages, for with his long surf locks he can gauge wind direction and velocity with deadly accuracy. In the off season for digging up greens with surf boards, he looks for "kicks" like, he claims, masterminding the Profumo scandal, toppling governments, and whatever else keeps young folks off the streets these days.

Credits

Academic Honors: Cum Laude. Sports: Varsity golf. Special Activities: Highlander staff; Log staff. Years at Prep: Six.

STEVEN MICHAEL ZISCH

*All seems infected that the infected spy,
As all looks yellow to the jaundiced eye.*

—Alexander Pope

Every hundred years, so the legend goes, the Great Canary arises out of the eastern sky and swoops down, devouring everything in its path. Naturally when we saw Steve's yellow monster roaring up the off-ramp of the Foothill freeway, devouring everything in its path, we assumed it was the Return of the Great Canary. Alas! 'Twas but a Big Chicken—a big chicken in trouble at that: he has four or five anti-trust suits now pending against him for monopolizing taxi service on Crown Ave.

Academic Honors: Cum Laude; C.S.F. Special Activities: Log. Years at Prep: Six.

MR. DENNISTON

*A little learning is a dangerous thing;
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring.*

—Alexander Pope

"Take out a sheet of paper, please; let's see how you made out with this assignment!" With these words there may be heard coming from room #24 the "Groan Heard Round the World"; were some visitor to our campus to inquire as to what that mournful wail was, the answer would undoubtedly be, "Oh, that's just Mr. Denniston's Senior English class — a quiz." However, the quizzes are rare, and we owe much to Mr. Denniston for all that we have learned in his classes. As the Senior Class, we are also indebted to him as our advisor; it has been through his guidance that the Class of '64 has not only been able to retain its Senior privileges, but also to add to them and to establish its reputation and leadership at Prep.

Flintridge has great natural beauty.

Classrooms are modern and well-equipped.

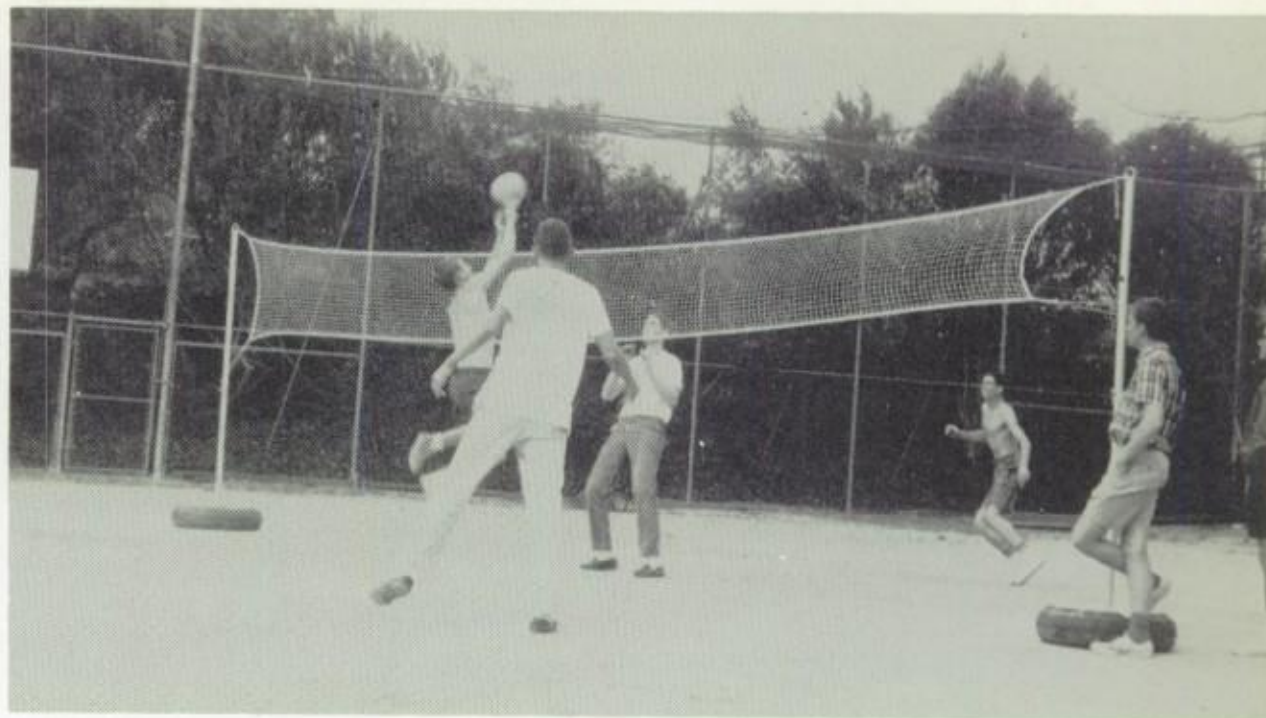

Ample study facilities are provided for all.

The use of the most modern of equipment is emphasized in science courses.

C a m p u s a n d C u r r i c u l u m

Sports enjoy great student participation.

Two areas distinguish Prep from other schools: the close student-faculty relationship, and the opportunity for advanced training in specific fields.

The close relationship between the student and faculty is achieved in many ways. Among these, two are especially worthy of note. First, the classes have a maximum of only sixteen students, thus allowing the teacher to spend a great deal more time with each individual. A second method of carrying out the close relationship takes the form of a special tutoring session held each day in which every pupil may receive help from any of his teachers.

Flintridge has evolved its own system for special training. Besides the fact that academic standards are very high in the whole school, many upper division classes in math and science have been divided into two separate groups. One group is for students who intend to major in science during college, while the second is intended for those who prefer liberal arts. The "S" or science major courses are more detailed and quantitative in work, while the "L," or liberal arts courses, are taught with a more descriptive aim.

During the 1963-64 school year Prep received many gifts. The most impressive of these will be an Olympic-sized pool, the final contributions having been made this year. The chemistry department was given an automatic analytical balance, and again this year the library will purchase its annual 500 books.

Proper use of Prep's facilities are insured by graduation requirements which include four years of English, two years of mathematics, one year of upper division science, one year of an upper division lab course, two years of a foreign language, plus one year of United States history. In order to be able to teach these courses effectively, the faculty are required to meet or surpass the teaching requirements in any public school system.

With Prep's close relationship between the students and faculty, the opportunity for special training, the new facilities, and high aims, it is a school ready to prepare its students for a fruitful college education.

Log Staff

Log 64 represents something completely new. Finally a Prep annual covers the Father-and-Son Banquet, the Junior-Senior Prom, and Graduation. This year the Log features a new program including a new form of Senior write-ups, new layouts, a larger edition, and, finally, a supplement which makes Log 64 the most complete yearbook Prep has ever seen.

Paul Harman, editor of the Log, has organized the radical new format into an annual which will stand out as unique in Flintridge history.

If we only Knew!

Highlander Staff

Editor

This year the Highlander Staff has continued to successfully use the format which was organized last year by the present Senior Class. Editor-in-Chief Jim Kautz, with the assistance of Mr. Denniston, the Highlander advisor, has been able to maintain a high set of standards for the paper. Due to the hard work done by the Staff, the Highlander has met its deadlines and put more last minute news into the paper than ever before.

This year's Flintridge Lettermen's Club has been one of the most successful in the history of the organization. Under the leadership of President Dale Lewis and the guidance of the club's advisor Mr. Bradbury, the club has moved forward and has accomplished a great deal. In the field of promoting school spirit, the club, largest in Prep's history, has excelled. The organization of a Father's Boosters Club is an excellent example of the "forward look" which has typified this year's club.

Class Competition

Class competition evokes spirited battles between the high school classes in three varied areas. Sports events include football and basketball contests, which the Seniors won handily, and swimming and volleyball, not completed at deadline time. Academic competition involves "Grades" and the Essay Contest. This year the Seniors swept "Grades" with almost a straight "B" class average, a school record. Lastly there is the area of behavior, or "Demerits." Here the Seniors made a relatively poor showing, while the Freshmen captured second place behind the juniors.

Even at this writing it is clear that Class Competition has been a walk-away for the Seniors, although the year was not without its surprise. To the astonishment of everyone at Prep, and most particularly to the sophomores, the freshmen captured third place. For the second year in a row, therefore, the sophomores must provide the Seniors with a victory banquet.

As Log '64 goes to press, the Class Competition standings are:

Seniors: 36 points

Juniors: 24 points

Sophomores: 5 points

Freshmen: 7 points

Cast Parties

This year Prep deviated from the traditional form which had each class in the high school put on a dance. Instead, a dance committee was formed from members of each class. This group was solely responsible for the production of all the "cast parties." The tremendous response to all the parties has shown this system to be very successful.

Fall Party

The spirit of the event.

The first "cast party" of the season was carried out under an Oriental theme. The decorations, music, and refreshments were excellent. All who attended enjoyed a wonderful evening.

The usual . . .

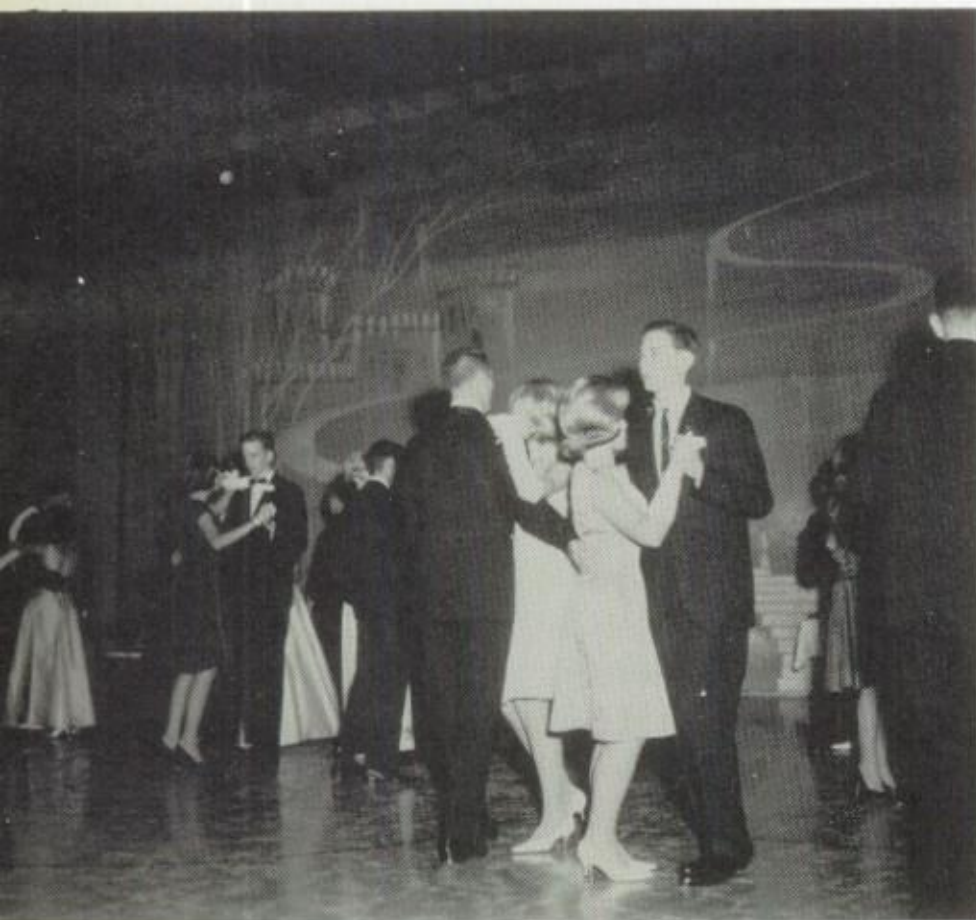

. . . and the unusual.

Christmas Party

They finally found her.

The festivity of the Christmas season was quite evident to all who attended this year's Christmas dance. The dance is traditionally a highlight of the season, and this year's edition was no exception. The refreshments and music were outstanding. The magnificence of the decorations was crowned by an eighteen-foot, white Christmas tree. The dance must be classified as a distinct success.

The students came in great number.

Chaperones followed suit.

Spring Party

The last "full cast party" of the year was considered by many to have been the best. The theme, a closely guarded secret, remained a secret to some even after the dance was over. These people were probably overcome by the clouds of "Black Flag" which floated periodically into the room. The band was superior as were the refreshments. Lewis Hastings and his committee are to be congratulated for the exceptional parties we have enjoyed this year. Next year the Commissioner of Finance will be following with an impressive performance.

The action closely followed a very predictable script in this year's varsity football season. Under the able direction of Mr. Wood and Mr. Bradbury, the team completed a perfect record of five wins and no losses. Experience and ability were the keynotes of the season as Steve Manildi and Mike Gunn returned to lead the team to its second straight league crown. Leading parts on the defensive team were played by John McEntyre and Jeff Halverson. The action of the season was highlighted by the defeat of Chadwick and the trouncing of Poly, the former Academy League champion.

Not every script is predictable. Directors Wood and Bradbury brought in a new and somewhat surprising ending to the "B" action. Starting the season with an essentially new and inexperienced squad, the "B" team developed and made up in desire whatever they lacked in experience by winning the "B" crown for the first time after five tries. With the running of Ted Safford and Tom McEntyre plus the determined defending of Peter Forsch, the Highlanders fought their way to victory in a series of high-scoring contests. The ability and relative youngness of the team lends promise for the future of Flintridge football.

The 1963-64 Flintridge varsity basketball season has proved to be something of a repeat performance. Led by the return of lettermen Fritzen, Stutz, Manildi, Gunn, Hastings, and McEntyre, the Highlanders once again finished second to Chadwick, gaining a C.I.F. berth, only to be defeated by Class A champions Santa Clara in the quarter finals.

Powered by the outside shooting of All-League forward Fritzen, who averaged 17 points per game, the fast break combination of Hastings and Gunn, who averaged 10 and 14 points a game respectively, and the rebounding of Brown, Stutz, and Manildi, the Prep cagers compiled a respectable season of 15 wins and 5 losses. Both the overall team speed and desire are attributed to this successful season.

Flintridge supporters may look forward to an exciting season next year, as does Coach Tom Bradbury, with the return of Stutz, Brown, DeGroot, Meikle, and Safford. The Log congratulates this year's fine team and is equally hopeful for a great season next year.

The Bees, although having their fantastic win streak ended at sixty, went on to win their sixth league championship in as many years. In their co-championship with Chadwick, the Bees, led by Ted Safford, compiled a season record of 9 wins and 5 losses. Safford's speed and shooting ability, which enabled him to play for the varsity in C.I.F., proved to be the Bees' main strength. The squad was rounded out by guards McEntyre and Farmer, center Erickson, and forward Skowrup. While the passing of Farmer and McEntyre continually opened shot opportunities, the rebounding of Skowrup and Erickson enabled the Bees to get that second and third opportunity. It was this ability to get plenty of shots off, plus an all out team effort, which gave the Bees their championship season. Obviously, without the bench strength of Eskelson, Taylor, Burch, and Sutro, Coach Wood's Bees could not have had such a successful year.

The swimming team met with an off year. Both participation and spirit waned as the team entered only two meets this season. The team worked hard, but most of the interest was centered on next year. This interest was aroused by the prospect of a new pool to be built this summer. The L-shaped pool will have separate swimming and diving areas. It will be larger (eight yard by twenty-five yard swimming area) and outdoors.

It is expected that the new pool will revive great interest in the swimming team and help restore Flintridge to its former position as a leader of the Prep League.

In its efforts this year the team was led by Seniors John McEntyre and Bob Nathason. The prospects for next year are good, with the return of such swimmers as Dixon, Jelin, and De Martini.

Tennis

This year's tennis team has been rated as one of the best, if not the best, in the history of Flint-ridge. It is composed of a balanced attack group of veterans which include: Bruce Murdy, a three-year man; Lewis Hastings, a three-year man; Teddy Safford, a two-year man; Ken Stutz, a three-year man; John Lindsey, a three-year man; and first-year men Gene Rhodes, Dan Clements, and Bill Keane. The nucleus of the team is based around the power of Murdy, the quickness of Safford, and the consistent play of Hastings. This team is the top contender to take the Prep League crown in tennis after downing Cultér and Black Foxe, the top-seeded team in the league, up to the time of publication.

Golf

This year the golf team experienced its best season in the last five years. With about half of the season gone at the time of this writing, they have won four matches and tied one. Team coach Mr. Acosta anticipates the improvement of this record throughout the rest of the year. He expressed the belief that the team would win all the rest of its matches. He was also quoted as saying, "This is the most outstanding team in the last five years."

In their matches the team has faced mainly public schools of up to twenty-five hundred enrollment. The three private school opponents are: Harvard, La Salle, and St. Francis. Leading the team against these larger schools are Jack Guernsey, the leading scorer, Peter Keyes, next behind Guernsey, and Wells Wheeler. Log wishes to extend its congratulations to the team for a fine year and an excellent record. This should do much to expel the nemesis under which golf has labored during the past few years.

Later, the comments were something to behold.

For the second straight year Flintridge baseballers have won the Prep League Championship under the guidance of coach Tom Bradbury. The team's record this year was nine wins and one loss. Thus it qualifies as one of the greatest teams in the school's history.

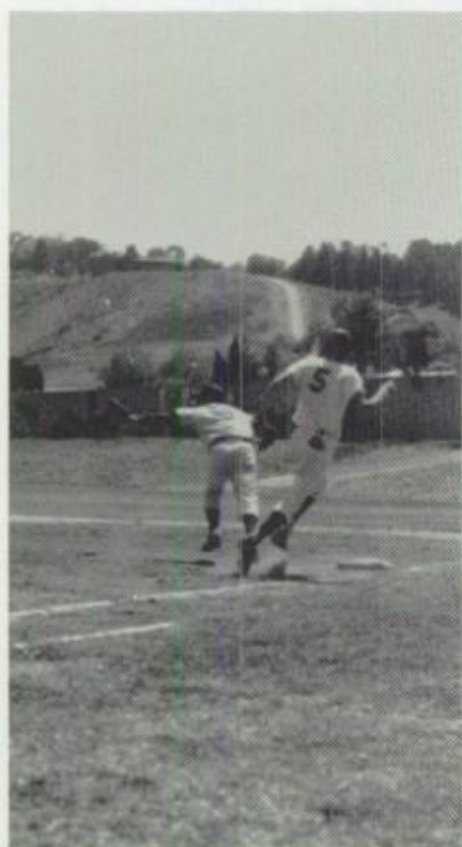

The basic reason for the team's wide acclaim lies in the terrific offensive punch it carried. The overall player batting average was a phenomenal .318, while 125 runs were scored by Prep as it gave up only 21 runs during the ten league games. The effective offensive wallop was led by All-leaguers Mike Gunn, who batted .550, Eric Pennala, .476, Jeff Halverson, .486, Steve Manildi, .325, Teddy Safford, .452, John De Groot, .323, and Lane Crue, .297. Recognition is also due sophomore Mike Taylor and freshman Sandy Haskell plus the rest of the team for their outstanding spirit and ability.

The Prep nine suffered a slow season start with a 1-4-1 pre-season record, but they bounced back as league play started and rolled through the season with only one loss, the last game against Chadwick. Their determination showed strongly in the first league game against Culter. Behind the three hit pitching of Jeff Halverson and heavy hitting by the entire team, Flintridge set the pace for the rest of the season with 15 hits and 12 runs of errorless ball.

In the post-season C.I.F. playoffs Prep didn't fare as well. Playing in San Bernardino, Flintridge rallied-against a 6-0 run deficit in the fourth inning to lose 6-5 against Aquinas. Team members still contend that given another inning, they could have won. When the season was finally complete, Flintridge had compiled a very respectable 11-5-1 record.

Some situations necessitate retaliation!

Father-Son Banquet

The annual Father and Son Banquet was a rousing success. Under the able direction of Barry Slocum, the dinner went off smoothly without any major problems. A new feature was the showing of motion pictures of the Flintridge football season. These pictures, shot by Rich Felnagle and financed by the Flintridge Boosters Club, were remarkably good and representative of Prep's athletic efforts.

After the film the award presentations took place. Aside from the special awards listed below, some fifty-one athletes received letters for outstanding achievement in the various sports undertaken at Flintridge during the school year. This figure does not include eleven members of the student body who received academic letters for an average of 94 or better in a particular course.

The highlight of the evening, though, came with a special presentation to Mr. Lowery by John McEntyre, who represented the student body. After devoting thirty-one years to the school, Mr. Lowery is to take a sabbatical leave in the fall, and the student body had decided to present Flintridge's President with a fitting token of the esteem in which it held him. The presentation of a new Pontiac Tempest was the climax of the student body's long secret endeavor.

As the banquet was brought to a close, Paul Harman, Commissioner of Publications, presented LOG '64, which was met with hardy praise from students, teachers, and fathers.

Graduation

This year's graduation highlighted a year of achievement at Flintridge. After many years of hard labor, thirty-three Seniors received diplomas from Dr. Dickinson and Mr. Lowery. Academically this year at Flintridge must be judged successful. Thirty-one students received Cum Laude awards and no less than fourteen students received honors from the California Scholastic Federation.

The highlight of the morning was the speech made by Dean L. Winchester Jones, the director of admissions of Cal Tech. The speech dealt with what Mr. Jones called "thoughtful work." By way of examples dealing with various types of work, both thoughtful and thoughtless, Mr. Jones dynamically put forth his idea that only by thoughtful effort and originality may a student derive full value from any educational program. Mr. Jones' speech was well received by students, faculty, and parents, and it is hoped that in following years the speakers at graduations will have as much useful information to pass on to the students as did Mr. Jones.

The religious aspects of the graduation were ably directed by the Reverend Howard T. Lewis and, in addition, Byron Coates skillfully sang the Lord's Prayer.

After graduation exercises cake and punch were served as refreshments by the hard-working Mothers' Club.

Thank You

This year we have done something new, which meant a great deal of extra planning and work on the part of the staff as a whole. It is for this reason that I feel a great number of persons are due hearty thanks for putting in the extra effort necessary. Unfortunately, to thank each person individually would require more space than we have: in lieu of this, I would like to recognize the following persons for outstanding dedication to our somewhat lengthy cause. Those due recognition are:

Mr. Noia, for his enthusiastic support during our many times of trial.

Ned Sutro, our idea man and contact with "the outside," whose influence opened many closed doors to the staff.

Bill Cook, who, while being Business Manager, still found time to lend his incisive pen and classical knowledge to the annual.

Rocky Cox and Bob Beckerlegge, the capable leaders of the organizations section.

Peter Vamvas, our artist, who managed to break "the jazz habit" long enough to design the cover.

Jim Navas, the man responsible for the sports section.

Dwight Dunn, who proved invaluable as Assistant Editor.

Drewry Photocolor Corp., the effective escape valve in our photographic budget.

Mr. Bill Hubbell, of Taylor Publishing Co., LOG's helpful link with the do's and dont's of the publishing industry.

Mr. Dick Clark, who capably handled last minute photography for the supplement.

Finally, very special thanks are due Mr. Winter D. Horton and Desilu Studios, who graciously consented to let us photograph Desilu Sound Stages for the divider pages.

My sincere thanks to you all

PAUL HARMAN, Editor-in-Chief
